Skills-Based WORKSHOP

Teaching Skills & Learning Theories

Come learn some basic classroom skills, teaching theories and the strategies, tools and resources for teaching and interacting effectively with our community sites. This is a valuable and free workshop for those interested in teaching, in careers in education or with an interest in working with CCCSI education-based community sites.

Tuesday, February 17: 3-5 p.m.

Gold Student Center Multipurpose Room

Facilitated by DeLacy Ganley, a faculty member of Claremont Graduate University's School of Educational Studies and co-director of its Teacher Education Internship Program since 2004.
