I like that I am at an institution that emphasizes social justice, social responsibility and environmental activism. I am glad and proud to be at an institution that wants to ‘fight the good fight.’ And I like that my classes are small and I get to really know many of my students. We also have awesome food!

Phil Zuckerman
Professor of Sociology & Secular Studies

I conducted research with my sociology professor on institutional inclusivity. Through this research, I gained meaningful skills, learned how to conduct my own interviews, used new software for content analysis, and was chosen to present at the California Sociological Association conference this past fall!

Quentin Jenkins '23
Majors: Sociology and Political Studies

My favorite aspect of Pitzer that makes it really unique is the emphasis and true value placed on student’s voice. In addition to the plethora of identity-based groups, clubs, and organizations, students have the power to advocate for different policies we want to see.

Kaila Teague ’22
Major: Self Designed Foreign Language and Education

My experience at Pitzer has been influenced by our incredible professors, and the ability to really learn through the small classroom setting. The opportunity to explore my interests and receive support from my advisors has led to me creating my own major and pursuing linguistic research with another one of my professors.

Immerse Yourself Abroad.

Pitzer students participate in nationally recognized cultural immersion programs during the semester or summer. These programs encourage our students to explore issues that matter to the world from different cultural perspectives.

Pitzer’s Direct-Run Programs

> Brazil. Located in Salvador de Bahia, a center of Afro-Brazilian culture, students live with local families, intern with a local nonprofit or school, and take intensive Portuguese language courses during this summer program.

> Costa Rica. Experience two family homestays, including one near our Firestone Center for Restoration Ecology on the Pacific Coast. We also offer a six-week summer health program.

> Ecuador. Based in Quito, high in the Andes, students take a core course, which includes working with a local organization. They also take a study trip to an indigenous mountain community, plus an excursion to the Amazon Basin. Homestays take place in both Quito and San Clemente.

> Italy. Based in Parma, students focus on intensive Italian language study aided by semester-long homestays, plus a field-based art history course and a community-based service-learning experience.

> Nepal. Students participate in homestays with a family near Kathmandu while intensively studying Nepali and taking part in field assignments and study trips to villages, national parks and a Tibetan refugee camp.

> Tanzania, South Africa and Zimbabwe. Students learn about the ways governments, NGOs and local communities in the region choose to approach issues that are common across borders, such as the colonial legacy, development, race, power, human rights and reconciliation, big game conservation, ecology and tourism, health care, education, and poverty alleviation.

> Vietnam. Students begin studying Vietnamese intensively at Pitzer in the spring, which continues in Vietnam at Hue University during the early summer. The six-week program also includes an internship and a homestay. A study trip to Hanoi and Halong Bay provide a comparative perspective in former “North Vietnam.”

I experienced protests in Sao Paulo, attended the Venice Biennale, and picked rainbow rocks along Lake Kussharo’s shore in Hokkaido. "I learned that even though we are citizens of many places and have starkly different political climates and customs, we all believe in the same basic things: family, making our individual lives meaningful and sometimes a belief in something greater than ourselves.”
Pitzer in Ontario

This semester-long, justice-oriented, interdisciplinary program has a foundation in urban studies and community-based research. At CASA Ontario, located in nearby downtown Ontario, classwork is combined with an intensive internship and community-based engagement to create a highly experiential learning opportunity.

Live Responsibly.

AT FITZER, WE PAY CLOSE ATTENTION TO THE IMPACT OUR COMMUNITY HAS ON THE WORLD. FROM THE FOOD YOU EAT TO THE LANDSCAPE AROUND YOU, AND THE THOUGHT-PROVOKING CONTENT OF OUR PUBLIC ART.

Food
Much of the food is organic, and our dining hall was one of the first in the country to go trayless, in order to reduce water waste. Vegan, vegetarian and gluten-free options are available daily. Other on-campus eateries and kitchens include:

> Shakedown Café. Eatery with organic, locally grown food.
> Grove House. A favorite student spot to study and grab sandwiches and cookies.
> Pit-Stop Café. Serves espresso drinks, gourmet sandwiches, wraps, salads and pastries.
> Demonstration Kitchen. Designed and used by students for cooking projects and events.

Residence Halls
Six comfortable, mixed-use, LEED certified residence halls offer apartment-style suites, plus doubles and singles. Other sustainable features include solar panels, a green roof, living wall, a gray water system and water-efficient fixtures.

Green Bike Program (GBP)
Founded and run by students, the GBP provides free loaner bikes for the semester, in exchange for four hours of volunteering at the bike shop. It also repairs bikes for the cost of parts, and organizes cycling events like the Campus to Coast ride. At the end of each semester, abandoned bikes are collected and given to the GBP where they are refurbished and raffled off the following semester at no charge.

Free Wall and Murals
More than 100 campus murals provide commentary on everything from equality for women to meditation. Students can submit proposals to the Campus Aesthetics Committee to add their public art piece to the College’s collection. All students are invited to write, paint and express themselves on our iconic and ever-changing Free Wall in the center of campus.
Participate and Play.

Pitzer students lead balanced lives, blending academic studies with almost limitless opportunities for fun and active pursuits.

Music Festivals and Art Venues
Pitzer is known for live music festivals and art venues:

> Rockabilly Festival. Sponsored by the Latinx Student Union, this annual festival celebrates SoCal Latinx art, music and car culture.
> Kohoutek. An annual two-day music and arts festival, with acts like La Misa Negra, Leikeli 47 and Duckworth.

“Students practice positive disruption. The free wall on Mead Hall, which evolves and changes in relation to the campus community climate, is the most evocative example of this spirit.”

Elizabeth Affuso
Professor of Media Studies

“Pitzer not only encourages, but enables students to engage with the community in ways that are meaningful to them. I turned my passion for food justice into our ‘Green Monday’ program, an initiative to prioritize plant-based food in the dining hall on Mondays, made possible by a collaboration between myself and my peers, school administration, and our dining services team.”

Kailey McNeal ’21
Major: Political Studies

“Pitzer students ‘run the place,’ because we all have an active role in the community. Whether that be serving on the student senate or in one of our improv comedy troupes, every student has a meaningful impact on our campus. I think Pitzer’s community truly fosters accountability in all aspects of the word.”

Milena Passage ’22
Majors: Organization Studies & Anthropology

“‘Our traditions are taking care of the chickens and writing on the free wall. What we lack in traditional traditions, we make up for in live music. It’s everywhere—at the Grove House, on the Mounds, at the Apron, and at the Shakedown Café.”

Justin Coopersmith ’20
