

CLASS OF 1965 -- PROVIDA FUTURI

Marlene Bates: "In the immediate future I plan on perfecting my skills as a wife and on getting to know my little daughter (class of 1987). I also plan to do a little writing, a great deal of reading, some sewing and painting. In the future I intend to return to school and get my master's degree for the purpose of teaching on the junior college level."

Katherine Gibbs: "I will continue my education in architecture and city planning at the Graduate School of Design of Harvard. I hope to work in these fields on an international level. This summer I will design and build exhibits at the Los Angeles County Fair under the direction of Richard Petterson of Scripps College."

Nicole Scheel: "Two weeks after graduation, I'll be on an airplane flying to Luxembourg....the first step on my way to Brandenburg, Germany, for a summer of intensive German at the Goethe-Institute. The following year I plan to work in Germany, hopefully in an aspect of sociology, but I'm realistic and realize that I may have to just observe it and work at something else. Sometime in the future I'll head back to graduate school so that I can get my master's degree in social work and really delve into the question of adolescent problems and especially of delinquency."
