Areas of Research Specialization

- Philosophy of Neuroscience
- Philosophy of Science
- Philosophy of Mind
- Neuroethology & Animal Behavior
- Social Epistemology of Conspiracy Theories

Areas of Teaching Competence

- Aesthetics & The Philosophy of Art
- Logic & Scientific Reasoning
- History of Medieval Philosophy
- Ethics & Biomedical Ethics
- Introduction to Neuroscience

PublicationsAuthored Books

- in prep Making Sense of the Senses. A work on the history of sensory differentiation from Aristotle until present together with an analysis of various approaches to understanding the difference between the senses. I conclude that we must be pluralists with respect to the senses, in that there are a number of different related but distinct accounts of the senses currently held within scientific, philosophical and folk understandings of the senses.

Edited Books

- 2005 Paul Churchland. Series: Contemporary Philosophy in Focus. Cambridge University Press. (Edited volume with contributions from Dan Dennett, José Luis Bermúdez, Clifford Hooker, Jesse Prinz, Pete Mandik, William Krieger, Aarre Laakso, and Garrison Cottrell.)
