Pitzer College

NEW STUDENT ORIENTATION

Congratulations! Welcome to Pitzer, the land of cacti, hammocks, and murals gleaming under the SoCal sun. My name is Keon, and I'll be your first year mentor. That just means I'm here to assist you in adjusting to your new home here and answer any and all of your questions. In addition, I will be one of your Orientation Adventure (OA) Leaders along with Jenna, Katie, and Ellie. We're already preparing for our grand backpacking excursion to the Marble Mountains.

Pitzer is an incredible place! Time really flies in college- I'm already a rising junior... My favorite part has definitely been all the community bonding and outdoor retreats. OA is just the beginning. Between orientation, clubs, and classes, I've gone on ten different retreats since my first year here exploring Mt. Baldy, Malibu, and Joshua Tree. You are also going to love the exciting events on campus, such as Shakedown Sounds (semi-weekly open mic) and Snackie Snack (weekly late night snack event). But wait, there's more! Multiply the excitement by five to include all the activities and events you can go to at the other 5Cs. So if somehow Pitzer does not have the resource/event/club/organization that you're interested in, it's bound to be at one of the other colleges.

Now for a little bit about me: I'm from Newport Coast, California, I'm Persian, and I love food. I am a biochemistry major and a premed student, and a huge fan of puzzles, strategy games, murder mystery TV shows (especially NCIS), and the great outdoors. I also enjoy camping, backpacking, scuba diving, the flamingo tongue snail, and am a freestyle figure skater.

If you have any questions or just want to chat, feel free to email me at krabbani@students.pitzer.edu.

See you in the fall!
Keon
